No-rinse antimicrobial washing means safety assurance & longer shelf life.

When used with a proper antimicrobial produce and fruit wash product, greater shelf levels and shelf life can be achieved by reducing pathogens. Consider the following specifications when making your product selection:

- Select a produce and fruit wash product that requires no rinsing
- Your produce and fruit wash product should be FDA and/or EPA approved for both whole and cut produce and fruit washing
- Ease and accuracy of dispensing is an important consideration - always make sure your produce and fruit wash product provider can regularly inspect and maintain the dispensing system
- Find a product that requires only a short wash time – a good rule of thumb is two minutes or less
- Make sure the product you choose is both safe and non-corrosive at its correct usage levels
